

The two orphan girls that I have sponsored to dance with the FAMOUS YANG LI PING go international. These Tibetan Orphans also need to go to Lhasa to get their social security and employment certificates set up as well as the passports for traveling in the international program by this April.

So here is a photo narrative of the progress so far.

I want to especially thank my dear friends Eve and Tom Simmons and Barb Hall for their sponsorship for these orphans as well.

I am just so proud of these girls, they have worked so hard and this is literally changing their lives. They both were abandoned orphans in the streets of Lhasa before the Orphanage found them and raised them. They were both around four years old when they joined the orphanage.

I focus on programs that will launch the kids that are turning into adults into a future career of some sort.

Thank you for all of your attention to this wonderful story. Huge hugs, Maria Gates

Receiving the funds for the passports.

Yangjinzuoga and Cirenzuoga paying for and picking up the airline tickets to fly to Lhasa from Kunming, China where they will acquire their passports. In China the persons wanting a passport must return to the town that they were born in to acquire their passport with special itinerary for the reason they want a passport.
